March 28, 2005 –Tootsietoy®, in partnership with the Roy Rogers Estate and RoyaltyPros Licensing, the Agent for Roy Rogers Family Entertainment Corporation, is pleased to announce that Tootsieoy will immediately re-brand its diverse and popular line of western role play items using the Roy Rogers name and images. Roy Rogers, internationally known as the “King of the Cowboys”, appeared in over 88 films and 100 TV episodes of his long running television show. Roy Rogers harkens back to the “good old days” when there was a clear delineation between good and evil, and the good guys always captured the bad guys. Dan Shure, President of Tootsieoy, states candidly, “We need to give our youngsters a more simple down to earth vision to deal with right and wrong through play activity, and Roy Rogers continues to be a strong role model to convey that message to our kids.” Look for the complete line of Roy Rogers western role play items at toy retailers around the world this coming fall.
